

HOLY CROSS EDUCATION

A Catholic education in the Holy Cross tradition transforms minds and hearts with zeal in communities of hope.

Transformation: Our colleges and universities offer intellectual, moral, and spiritual formation of the mind and heart that honors the integration of faith and reason.

Zeal: Zeal is the sacred fire that enkindles transformation in us and ignites the desire to act boldly for the good of neighbor, society, and the global community.

Community: Formation and transformation flourish in communities of faith and scholarship marked by unity of purpose, collaboration, and familial concern for every person.

Hope: Together we strive to instill hope in the face of suffering and foster participation in works of resurrection on our campuses, in the church, and throughout the world.

FR. MOREAU

Founder of the Congregation

Blessed Basil Moreau (1799-1873), a priest from LeMans, France, founded the Congregation of Holy Cross in 1837. He envisioned priests, brothers, sisters and laypeople working in close collaboration to transform society, especially through the ministry of education. Placing his confidence in God's love he chose the motto, "The Cross, Our Only Hope," for his new congregation and entrusted Holy Cross to the intercession of Our Lady of Sorrows as its patron. Moreau was declared "blessed" on September 15, 2007.

HOLY CROSS

Service Today

King's and the local Holy Cross Community are entering their 69th year. Currently, 15 "C.S.C.s" (the Community's Latin name is, "Congregatio a Sancta Cruce") serve at King's and in the Wyoming Valley. Of those, 11 minister at the college; four others work locally, residing on campus or in the area.

In addition to their roles at the college, the Holy Cross Community members are actively involved in Northeastern Pennsylvania religious, civic, and service organizations. Many of our priests also assist at area parishes on weekends.

VOCATIONS & the Holy Cross Community

College is a time for exploring career and vocation, and ministry in the church is one sure possibility. Many graduates of King's have gone on to become sisters, brothers, and priests. Holy Cross welcomes the opportunity to help students with this discernment. We invite students to get to know our common life more closely by sharing prayer, conversation, and table with us at the Holy Cross residence on campus. Students should contact Fr. Dan Issing, C.S.C., Fr. Tom Looney, C.S.C., or any Holy Cross priest or brother you know on campus for further information.

Holy Cross Candidate and Semester Residential Program

This is a two-semester residential program for college graduates who are seriously interested in pursuing a vocation as a Holy Cross religious. The Holy Cross Candidate Program is situated at the University of Notre Dame. Participants share daily prayer and meals, volunteer in a ministry, and take courses in theology and philosophy while exploring various aspects of religious life and the sharing of faith. Candidate Program is situated at the University of Notre Dame. For more information, you may speak to Fr. Dan Issing, C.S.C. or visit <http://www.holycrossusa.org/vocations/>.

HOLY CROSS

A Brief History

The Holy Cross Community was founded at Sainte Croix ("Holy Cross"), France, in 1837 by Fr. Basil Anthony Moreau. He envisioned a religious community of priests, brothers, and sisters who would assist the diocesan clergy, teach at all levels of education, and respond to other pressing needs in the church.

In 1841, the first Holy Cross priests and brothers came to America. Late in November of 1842, Fr. Sorin and the brothers arrived at what is now South Bend, Indiana, and began building what would become Notre Dame University. Since that time, three Holy Cross Congregations of priests, brothers, and sisters have founded nine colleges and universities.

University of Notre Dame	1842: Notre Dame, IN
St. Mary's College	1844: Notre Dame, IN
St. Edward's University	1885: Austin, TX
University of Portland	1901: Portland, OR
Our Lady of Holy Cross	1916: New Orleans, LA
King's College	1946: Wilkes-Barre, PA
Stonehill College	1948: North Easton, MA
Notre Dame College	1950: Manchester, NH (closed)
Holy Cross College	1966: Notre Dame, IN

Holy Cross has ministered for more than 170 years in the United States in parishes, educational institutions and as chaplains in hospitals, the military service, and elsewhere.

He had served for over 60 years at the College Notre Dame and later at the Oratory of Saint Joseph in Montreal, Quebec, Canada. Bro. Andre faithfully greeted visitors and extended hospitality daily. Because of his concern for them, many people went to him for help and healing. Some were cured through the intercession of his prayers.

He received a B.A. from St. Mary's University there; an M.Th. from the University of Notre Dame; and an MSW from Boston College. Fr. Genaro has worked in the college's Counseling Department. Richard has also done formation work, religious education, and parish work both in the US and Canada. He lives at Moreau Court, assists in local parishes, and maintains the Moreau Court garden.

Rev. Daniel Issing, C.S.C., a native of College Park, Maryland, is an associate professor in the Theology Department. His doctorate is in theological ethics with a specialization in Catholic social teaching, which he received from the Graduate Theological Union in Berkeley, California, which is a unique setting for interreligious and ecumenical dialogue. He also has a licentiate in sacred theology. His scholarship pursues the role of Catholic ethics in institutions of Catholic higher education, particularly in terms of infrastructure and decision-making, as well in academic and student life curriculum. While Fr. Dan can usually be found in the classroom teaching moral theology and social ethics, he is also chair of the Faculty Council, chair of the Moreau Lectures Committee, and Spiritual Director of the King's Encounters Christ Retreat. He regularly presides at the Eucharist in local parishes and offers religious retreats and days of reflection throughout the diocese.

Rev. Charles Kociolek, C.S.C., hails from Jersey City, New Jersey, served in the Air Force and worked in the business world before entering Holy Cross. He taught Accounting at Kings for many years and presently is Assistant Director of Academic Advisement.

Rev. Brent Kruger, C.S.C., from southern California, is assistant professor of Theology. His degree is in Biblical Studies from Catholic University in Washington, D.C. He brings to his classes a broad range of experience, especially from his six and a half years at the André House of Hospitality—a homeless shelter and soup kitchen in Phoenix, Arizona. There he oversaw a Core Community of ten members and a volunteer base of 2,000 people, helping them to engage in the Corporal Works of Mercy and to reflect theologically on their experience. Rev. Eric Schimmel, C.S.C. is from Pittsburgh, PA. He met Holy Cross as an undergrad at Notre Dame and entered formation upon graduation. After serving in three different parishes staffed by Holy Cross, he became the Director of André House of Hospitality. In his six years at André House ministering to people experiencing homelessness, Fr. Eric met many people from King's College. Some came for a week via King's WinterServe, others served for a year as part of the André House Core Community. This experience made it easy for him to enthusiastically accept the opportunity to come to King's College and work in both the McGowan Hispanic Outreach Program and Campus Ministry. He lives at Moreau Court.

Rev. Stephen "Chase" Pepper, C.S.C. is from Huntsville, AL. He received his BA in political science from Seton Hall University in 2007 and his M.Div. from Notre Dame in 2014.
